WYOMING AND IDARO. Their Friends Confident of Early Admission-Mr. Springer's Omnibus Bill.

Wyoming and Idaho are making constant progress toward statehood, and their friends expect them to become members of the Union at a very early day. Idaho has been lagging somewhat in the rear of Wyoming, but is getting there just the same. Delay in both houses regarding Idaho is due to the fact that both the Senate and House committee desired an opportunity to read the Supreme Court decision before taking definite action. The Senate committee has, however, agreed upon a favorable report on Idaho with but one dissenting vote, and the report was made by Senator Platt yes-

The House committee has authorized a favorable report on Wyoming, and has virtually agreed, after securing a printed copy of the Supreme Court decision, to report favorably on the admission of Idaho. Both reports are expected the first thing after the adoption of the rules. If the code as prepared by the republican caucus be adopted it will afford a great advantage to the territories seeking admission, as it provides that bills providing for the admission of new states way be called the the admission of new states may be called up at

MR. SPRINGER'S OMNIBUS BILL. It is expected that Mr. Springer will antagonize both the Wyoming and Idaho bills on the floor of the House. He has an omnibus bill providing for the admission of Wyoming, Idaho, Arizona and New Mexico, which he will make an effort to substitute with the idea of holding the political balance power even. It is claimed, however, that he will not have the support of all democrats on this proposition, and Delegate Joseph of New Mexico has agreed to address the House in opposition to Mr. Springer. Friends of Wyoming and Idaho make the claim that while these territories are asking for admission New Mexico and Arizona are simply asking for acts enabling them to become states and are not on the same basis.

COUNTING ON JOSEPH. Mr. Joseph will take this view of the subject, and Wyoming and Idaho men think he will be accepted as authority as to the desires of his people and that his statement will weaken Mr. Springer's movement.

If the bills pass the constitutions of both territories provide for the calling of an election by territorial governors from forty to ninety days after passage. After state officers qualify the state governors are required to call an election of a legislature in from thirty to sixty days and the legislature is required to take up the and the legislature is required to take up the election of United States Senators ten days

Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, editor of Zion's Herald. who is making a tour of the south, has the following to say of one of the phases of life in Washington:

"We have studied the condition of the colored man in this city. Our office shall be reportorial. We lived here one winter seven years ago. There is now more prejudice against the negro as such than there was at that time. The population of Washington is now from 215,000 to 225,000 people. There are 75,000 colored people. As a whole they are in a destitute and wretched condition. There is not a colored man in the United States Senate. There is one colored man in the House of Representatives of over 300 members. There is not a colored man in the membership of the Metropolitan church. There is one in the Foundry church. The negro is not wanted and would not be tolerated if he should offer himself for membership in any of the white churches of this city. A barrier of prejudice deep as the nether world divides the white here from the black."

THE PARNELL REPORT. The Commission Finds That There Was a Conspiracy.

The report of Judges Hannen, Day and Smith, the special commission appointed to investigate the charges made by the Times against the Parnellite members of the house of commons, was laid upon the table in the house of commons yesterday by the Right Hon. Henry Matthews, secretary of state for home affairs. It consists of 120 pages and gives all details of procedure in arriving at the conclusion. The greatest interest centers in the findings, which are as follows: "We find that the respondents, members of parliament, were not members of a conspiracy having for its object to establish the absolute independence of Ireland; but we find that some of them, together with Mr. Davitt, established and joined in the land league organization with the intention by its means to bring about the absolute independence of Ireland as a separate nation. The names of the respondents are Michael Davitt, M. Harris, John Dillon, Wm. O'Brien, W. Redmond, J. O'Connor, Jos. Condon and J. J. O'Kelly.

"We find that the respondents did enter into a conspiracy by a system of coercion and intimidation to promote an agrarian agitation against the payment of agricultural rents for the purpose of impoverishing and expelling from the country the Irish landlords, who were styled the English garrison. independence of Ireland; but we find that some

THE PIGOTT FORGERY. "We find the charge that when on certain occasion they thought it politic to denounce and did denounce certain crimes in public they afterward led their supporters to believe that such denunciation was not sincere is not estab-lished. We entirely acquit Mr. Parnell and the other respondents of the charge of insincerity in the denunciation of the Phonix park mur-ders; and we find that the fac simile letter upon which this charge is chiefly based as against

Mr. Parnell is a forgery.

"We find that the respondents did disseminate the Irish World and other newspapers tending to incite sedition and the commi other crimes.

"We find that the respondents did not directly incite any persons to the commission of crime other than intimidation, but that they did incite to intimidation, and that the consequence of that incitement was that crimes and outrages were committed by the persons so incited; but we find that it has not been proved that the respondents made payments for the purpose of inciting persons to commit crime.

"We find as to the allegation that the respondents did nothing to prevent crime and that they expressed no bona fide disapproval of crime, that some of the respondents—in particular Michael Davitt—did express a bona fide disapproval of crime and outrage, but that the disapproval of crime and outrage, but that the respondents did not denounce the system of intimidation which led to the commission of crime and outrage, but persisted in this absten-tion of denunciation with the knowledge of its AGRARIAN CRIMINALS.

"We find that the respondents did defend persons charged with agrarian crimes and supported their families, but that it has not been proved that they subscribed to testimonials for or were intimately associated with notorious criminals or that they made payments to procure the escape of such criminals from justice.

"We find, as to the allegation that the respondents made payments to compensate persons who had been injured in the commission of crime, that they did make such payments.

"As to the allegation that the respondents invited the assistance and co-operation of and accepted subscriptions of money from known advocates of crime and the use of dynamite, we find that the respondents did invite the asproved that they subscribed to testimonials for we find that the respondents did invite the assistance and co-operation of and accept subscriptions of money from Patrick Ford, known as an advocate of crime and the use of dynamite; but it has not been proved that the respondents, or any of them, knew that the Clanna-Gael controlled the land league or was collecting money for a parliamentary fund; but it ing the Clan-na-Gael, and in order to obtain The British extradition treaty was then taken | that assistance abstained from repudiating or these there remain three specific charges against Mr. Parnell personally, namely:

"That at the time of the Kilmainham negotiations Mr. Parnell knew that Sheridan and Boyton had been organizing outrages and, therefore, wished to use them to put down outrages. We find this charge not proved.

"That Mr. Parnell was intimate with the leading Invincibles; that he probably learned from them what they were about when he was released on parole in April, 1882, and that he recognized the Phoenix park murders as their handiwork. We find that there is no foundation of this desired that the Luisnith were not a branch of the land league.

"That Mr. Parnell on January 23, 1883, by an opportune remittance enabled F. Byrne to escape from justice to France. We find that Mr. Parnell did not make any remittance to enable

Byrne to escape from justice. DAVITT A FENIAN.

"Regarding the two special charges against Mr. Davitt that he was a Fenian and assisted in the formation of the land league with money contributed for the purpose of outrage and crime; that he was in close and intimate asso-ciation with the party of violence in America and was mainly instrumental in bringing about and was mainly instrumental in bringing about an alliance between that party and the Parnell-ite and home rule party in America, we find it proved that Mr. Davitt was a Fenian and re-ceived money from the skirmishing fund contributed for the purpose of outrage. This was not, however, for the formation of the land league itself, but for the promotion of agitation leading up to it. It has been shown that Mr. Davitt returned the money from his own resources. We find also that he, in such close and intimate association with the party of violence in America, was the man mainly in-strumental in bringing about the alliance re-

In the opening of the report the judges refer termine whether the persons charged were guilty of the acts alleged. The inquiry, there-fore, was based upon the laws of evidence and procedure prevailing in the ordinary courts.
The history of the actions of the leaders of the Irish party from 1877 is recited; the relations are traced that existed between the founders of the land league and the Fenians and Irish-Americans. The land league is described as it was originated by Davitt and adopted by Parnell, with the support of the extreme party both in Ireland and America.

BOYCOTTING DENOUNCED.

Referring to boycotting, it declares that the instances adduced before the commission proved that it constituted a system of intimidation of the most severe and cruel character. and that it was directed not only against those who took land whence another had been evicted but against every one who, directly or indirectly, offered any obstacle to the reign of the unwritten law of the league in place of the paying rent when others refused to pay, a class whom Mr. Parnell designated as weak and cowardly and against whom public opinion must be brought to bear, even though it should manifest itself in unpleasant ways. Boycotting is further designated as an elaborate report goes on to say:

"In our judgment the leaders of the league thus combining to carry out the boycott were guilty of a criminal conspiracy. We consider this charge established against Messrs. Parnell, Dillon, Biggar, Sexton, T. P. O'Connor, Davitt and others of the leaders."

The report proceeds to the course of the league's movements in America and its connec-

The report proceeds to the course of the league's movements in America and its connection with the Clan-na-Gael. Touching the tenth convention of the Clan-na-Gael, at which Sullivan presided, the proceedings proved that the dynamite policy had been definitely adopted by the Chicago convention of 1881, at which T. P. O'Connor was a delegate from Mr. Parnell.

The mass of evidence proved that the Irish league in America has been since directed by the Clan-na-Gael and has been actively engaged in promoting the use of dynamite for the destruction of life and property in England. It is further proved that while the Clan-na-Gael controlled the league in America these organizations concurrently collected sums amounting to over $300,000 for a fund wherefrom payments should be made to Irish members of the house of commons. It has not, however, been proved that Mr. Parnell knew the position of the Clan-na-Gael—the circulars of that body, besides the evidence of Le Caron, showing that its operations were kept accept. its operations were kept secret.

FLORIDA ELECTION METHODS. Report of the Attorney General-

Charges of Fraud and Intimidation. On the 4th instant the United States Senate adopted a resolution offered by Senator Call calling upon the Attorney General for a detailed statement of expenses in connection with the operation of the circuit court of the northern district of Florida in the months of November and December, 1889, and copies of all communications between the Department of Justice and officers of the court in the same time, so far as may be compatible with the interests of the administration of justice.

Yesterday afternoon Vice President Morton laid before the Senate Attorney General Miller's response. First is a letter from A. C. Matthews, first controller, giving the amount of expenses asked for as nearly as may be ascertained at present. The accounts of the attorney, clerk and marshal for fees are not yet settled, and besides, the marshal's claims on accounts of witnesses and jurors are for both circuit and district courts. The total amount shown by the letter of the first controller is $19,558. The communications between the officials of the court and the department in the mouths of November and December relate mostly to the condition of affairs in Madison

IMPOSSIBLE TO INFORCE UNITED STATES ELEC TION LAWS. John R. Mizell, United States marshal, reports that it is impossible to inforce any process of the United States court in connection with election cases. A posse of sixteen, under instructions of the attorney, was sent into the county, but it accomplished nothing. Later a prisoner charged with a political offense was rescued by a mob in Gadsden, and in another case an undisguised mob prevented arrest and the deputies were forced from the county. In answer to the Attorney General's orders to in-Answer to the Attorney General's orders to inforce by posse the warrants and processes of court
Marshai Mizell telegraphs that it is impossible to organize a sufficient posse to go to Madison county for the following reasons:

1. The class of men that could be employed "We find that the respondents did not directly for such work would be totally unreliable.

2. No reliable persons familiar with the county wish to make themselves a target for future assassinations. 3. No supply, shelter, aid or comfort would be given to men or animals. THE POPULATION TERRORIZED.

J. N. Stripling, district attorney, in a letter to the Attorney General, November 9, says that the combination in Madison county is so formidable that it has succeeded in terrorizing and intimidating the whole population of the county, so that it is next to an impossibility to obtain any information as to the identity or whereabouts of the parties for whom warrants have been issued. Were a sufficient force located there to inspire people with a confidence that the government really intended to arrest these parties, information as to their identity and whereabouts could be readily obtained from residents but the investigation. from residents, but the impression generally prevails, and it is justified by past experience (I mean in former years), that the government intends to do nothing further than to send a few deputies there, whose departure from this place (Jacksonville) whose departure from this place (Jacksonville) is duly heralded, who go through the formality of calling at the places of residence of the parties wanted, and, finding no one, retire from the community, to leave informers, if any, at the mercy of the outlaws. The brutal manner in which John Bird was murdered has so completely terrorized witnesses that they are about as hard to find as the criminals, and the delay in sending an adequate force to re-main there until something can be accom-plished is daily diminishing the oppor-tunities to make arrests and emboldens the outlaws in their policy of MURDER AND INTIMIDATION. The impression prevails generally throughout the state that it will require bloodshed to accomplish anything in Madison and this renders it difficult for the marshal to muster a force of reliable men to go there. In addition to this the failure of the government to accomplish anything in Madison has induced the law more and Ohio railroad will sell excursion tactics. A few days ago Judge Swayne and I were visited by a delegation from Alachua county, headed by J. V. Shipman, who was our candidate for governor at the last election, and implored to cease any further prosecutions in that county. They were moved to this course by the fact that a mob had the night before called D. O. Barnes, a prominent republican, out of his home and notified him that if the prosecution of individuals were continued he would be murdered, and by the further fact that they did not think the government meant to do anything more than had been done in former years. Under the circumstances I would consider it advisable to standard the control of the tion a military company in Madison, and in addition thereto offer a large reward for the arrest of Eugene E. West, Rufus D. McNair, Chas. B. McNair, Angus D. Stanton and Wm. H. Woodbread. These are the ringleaders. If you do not think it advisable to station the military there you should, in my opinion, furnish the marshal with means and instruct him to stand a mounted force there, to stay until they capture at least a few of the criminals. VIOLATED ELECTION LAWS. In another letter, dated November 13, Attorney Stripling informs the Attorney General that S. C. Saddler, supervisor of registration of electors in Alachua county, had pleaded guilty to two indictments charging him with refusal to register persons entitled to registration. His violations of the law, the district attorney says, violations of the law, the district attorney says, were very flagrant, but in view of his confession of guilt, the promises of himself and friends that there shall be no repetition of the offense, some prominent republicans, Mr. Stripling says, importuned him not to press judgment against Saddler until December, 1890, he in the meantime to be released on $5,000 bail. The purpose of this, the district attorney says, is ultimately to have the judgment finally suspended. He recommends that the arrangement be carried out.

Under date of November 26 Philip Walker, chief supervisor of registration, reports the chief supervisor of registration, reports the fact of Saddler's plea of guilty to the attorney general and adds: "I merely send you these (the indictments) to show you the state of affairs in this state, and I can assure you I put it mild when I inform you that over TEN THOUSAND REPUBLICAN VOTES WERE THROWN after they were cast, and that in a little uppersons in every precinct were kept off the registration list and thereby deprived of their right to vote." In answer to District Attorney Stripling's letter of November 13, recommend-ing that Saddler be not sentenced. Attorney General Miller on the 21st of the month wrote: "This program does not commend itself to "This program does not commend itself to my judgment. If this man has deliberately and flagrantly violated the law I think he ought to be punished. He undoubtedly would not have confessed and pleaded guilty except that he saw himself inextricably in the toils, and it does not comport with my views of the administration of the law that one so evidently guilty of a grave crime should entirely guilty of a grave crime should entirely escape punishment. I have submitted your letter to the President, who concurs in the views above

On December 11 John T. Talbott, foreman of the United States grand jury, advised the At-torney General that the grand jury had been investigating the report that there existed in Madison county an organization of considerable proportions to resist and prevent the arrest of any one charged with the violation of the election laws at the last presidential election. Several witnesses testified, the foreman says, evidently with a purpose to conceal the real facts in the case. "The organization." he continues, "we are satisfied, egists, and is of such numeri-"we are satisfied, exists, and is of such numerical strength as satisfies the jury that no ordinary posse could go into that county and effect an arrest. The jury is thoroughly satisfied that the only effectual way would be to send a mounted posse into the county, to remain a sufficient length of time to acquaint themselves with the people, the country and its surroundings, and in addition to this to post reliable men at different places on the borders of the country. The jury would also recommend a resides the evidence of Le Caron, showing that attention." She refused, however, to discuss the matter. Whistling is the latest aristocratic craze. The princess of Teck practices daily and Countess Cadogan and Countess Dudley are proficient whistlers. During the present season in country houses whistling parties are the thing in opposition to Lady Folkstone's string band. A dozen young daughters of noblemen have formed a whistling band and will shortly give a concert at the house of the duchess of Portland.

GEBHARDT IN LONDON.

He Desires to be Unheralded and Dines With Langtry as Soon as Possible.

"Freddy" Gebhardt arrived in London yeserday on the steamer Trave, accompanied by is friend Frank Ellison, a prominent member of the Manhattan club. As soon as Gebhardt put foot on land he telegraphed Mrs. Langtry. Mr. Gebhardt was seen by a reporter and impatiently said: "I do hate notoriety. I detest newspapers. I am quiet and I don't want my name in print. I am here solely on business shall leave my hotel tomorrow and go into chambers. I want to preserve my incognito." After this declaration Mr. Gebhardt became silent. He even declined to discuss the Lily beyond expressing a conventional sorrow at her failure to open the theater, but boundless joy at her convalesence. Both gentiemen left their hotel to dine with Mrs. Langtry, who, on her part, had shown the most restless uneasi-ness during the day. She dispatched many messages to Gebhardt.

A TRICK AT CARDS. Iron-Foot Johnson Caught in the Act of Cheating.

From the Ansconds (Mont.) Standard. George A. Johnson, a colored man, known is criminal circles as "Iron-foot" Johnson, was arrested Wednesday on a warrant issued at the instance of Zeffero Biagani, a saloon keeper doing business on Dupont street near Green, who charged him with grand larceny. P. Begentine, a confederate of Johnson, was also taken into custody on a similar charge. Johnson, who derives his sobriquet from the deformity of one of his legs, which made it shorter than the other and necessitates the use of a high iron shoe, came into prominence years ago by attempting to perpetrate a gigantic fraud on the government concerning illegal Alabama claims. The scheme involved an enormous sum of money and probably would have succeeded had not an accomplice exposed the whole affair after being assaluted by Johnson during a quarrel.

The crime for which he is at present in trouble is similar to those which the police say he has been engaged in for a long time. The stealing is committed in a card game, and al-though the trick is an old one it seldom fails of success, as the victim is led into the trap by the prospect of making money, even though it be acquired dishonestly.

Wednesday Johnson and his confederate,

Begentine, entered Biagani's saloon and engaged in a game of eucher. After playing several games for drinks Johnson exclaimed: "Gosh, but if I were playing poker I would have a fine hand!"

"Well," said Begentine, "I'd have a nice "Well," said Begentine, "I'd have a nice little hand myself in that game."

Johnson proposed that eucher be laid aside for a minute and poker take its place with the cards then held by the players, and backed up his hand with over $100, which sum he laid on the table. the table. Begentine spoke to Biagani in Italian to go behind Johnson's chair and see what cards he held. The saloon man sauntered around the table and observed a seven full on eights, i.e., three sevens and a pair of eights.

"I have a better hand," said Begentine in Italian, and showed Biagani three aces and a pair. Begentine then proceeded to put up his money to cover the amount wagered by Johnson, but found himself $60 short. He then requested the saloon keeper to advance him the shortage, saying he would give him half of it when he won Johnson's coin. Biagani was wil-ling to make $30 quickly, but on the "show down" it was found that Johnson had four sevens, and he gathered in the pot to the victim's chagrin and astonishment.

A spot had been pasted on one of the sevens to make it resemble an eight-spot, and immediately before the cards were displayed on the table Johnson slipped it off and he held the winning hand.

Dangers of Tea Drinking. From the British Medical Journal.

It is a great misfortune that the popular name for a person who abstains from all alcoholic liquors is a teetotaler; the term has fostered the idea that tea is a harmless beverage, and it is no doubt true that the moderate use of well-made and not very strong tea is less harmful than the habitual resort to any other stimulant.

When, however, tea drinking ceases to be the amusement of the leisure moment of a busy afternoon and is resorted to in large quantities and strong infusions as a means of stimulating the flagging energies to accomplish the allotted task, then distinct danger commences. A breakdown may ensue in more than one way; not infrequently the stimulus which tea in time fails give is sought in alcohol, and the atonic flatulent dyspepsia which the astringent decoc-tion made by long drawing induces helps to drive the victim to seek temporary relief in spirits, sal-volatile or even eau de cologne which is at first dropped on sugar and finally drunk out of a wine glass.
In other cases, by ladies especially, relief is sought from morphine, and in a predisposed person the morphine habit is established with extraordinary rapidity. It has been said that as long as a person takes stimulants simply for their taste he is comparatively safe, but as soon as he begins to drink for the effect then he is running into danger. That is, perhaps, to state the case for stimulants rather too favorably, but if the rule was adhered to we should have fewer cases of educated people sliding into habits of secret intemperance or into morphinomania.

America in Samoa.

Sir James Ferguson in the house of commons yesterday said that negotiations on the fishery question were proceeding between England and America under favorable auspices. Mr. after they were cast, and that in a little up-ward of 700 precincts in this state at least ten gave the whole credit for any benefit accruing to British subjects in Samoa to the spirited action of the United States.

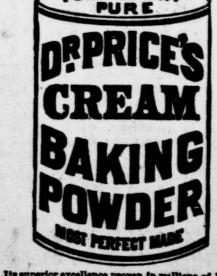

Four at a Birth.

Mrs. M. Newton of Everson, Pa., gave birth resterday to four children, all girls. They are f ordinary size, perfectly formed, and will live. Mr. and Mrs. Newton are both of Irish birth and have lived here for many years. The house was crowded all day with visitors.

Trenton Rubber Works Sold. An English syndicate has offered by cable $750,000 for the rubber interests in Trenton, N. J. Experts representing the syndicate have been examining the works of the Trenton, Star and other rubber works and fixed the value, The rubber men had a meeting Wednesday night and accepted the offer. The works will be managed by the present proprietors, who retain an interest.

Not Accident, but Murder. Evidence has just come to light showing that the shooting of Michael Bordner by a man named Stochick while at targat practice near Snow Shoe, Pa., on the 23d of January last, and which at the time was believed to be an accident, was a deliberate murder for the purpose of robbery and that Stochick secured over a hundred dollars belonging to Bordner. Stochick disappeared and the authorities have FULL WEIGHT

There are various ways of washing dishes—possibly the above is the worst. If you want your dishes, glassware, silver, &c., perfectly clean and bright, wash them with Pearline. Being a powder it is especially convenient for this work-besides it keeps the dish-rag clean, pure, sweet. Put Pearline in sinks and basins, turn on hot water; it will cleanse the waste pipes. Many women use Pearline for these purposes only; they are only half wise. For the laundry, kitchen and house-cleaning, in fact wherever soap is used, try Pearline--it's better, quicker and saves labor-it has no equal, no rival. It is as harmless as the finest imported castile soap. Beware of peddled imitations. Pearline is never peddled, but all grocers sell it. Manufactured only by JAMES PYLE, New York.
